No New Administrative Units for Now, Govt to Strengthen Existing Ones: CM Omar

■ HT NEWS NETWORK

JAMMU, FEB 7: Chief Minister Omar Abdullah on Friday said that the government has no immediate plans to create new administrative units in Jammu and Kashmir, stressing that the priority is to operationalise and strengthen those already established.

Intervening during the Question Hour of the Budget Session-2026 in the Legislative Assembly, the Chief Minister was responding to supplementary queries raised by MLA Khanyar Salman Ali Sagar and other members regarding the demand for carving out a new tehsil by bifurcating certain areas from Eidgah and Srinagar North tehsils.

key development projects in the Union Territory.

Addressing senior civil and security officials at Lok Bhawan, Shah said that under Prime Minister Narendra Modi's leadership, Jammu and Kashmir has witnessed unprecedented developmental momentum, and harnessing its hydropower capacity would play a decisive role in shaping a prosperous future.

"Jammu and Kashmir must harness its full hydropower potential to drive growth and ensure sustainable development," the Home Minister said, stressing that development projects in the Union Territory have gained remarkable pace in recent years.

The nearly two-hour-long meeting was attended by Lieutenant Governor Manoj Sinha, Chief Minister Omar Abdullah, Union Home Secretary Govind Mohan, Chief Secretary Atal Dulloo, Director General of Police Nalin Prabhat, and other senior officials.

Shah conducted a comprehensive review of major sectors, including road infrastructure, power, industry, tourism, 4G and optical-fibre connectivity, and directed authorities to ensure 100 per cent saturation of all welfare schemes so that benefits reach every eligible household.

Highlighting youth empowerment as a key priority, he emphasised the need to expand sports infrastructure and establish sports academies across the region, adding that efforts would be made to mobilise investments of nearly Rs 200 crore through partnerships with national sports bodies.

The Home Minister also called for focused efforts to boost the dairy sector with support from the National Dairy Development Board, describing it as a vital driver of rural livelihoods and employment generation.

In a major fiscal initiative, Shah said Jammu and Kashmir has been brought under the Special Assistance to States for Capital Investment (SACI) scheme for the first time in FY 2025-26, enabling access to 50-year interest-free loans for critical capital works. He stressed that strict fiscal discipline would help stabilise the Union Territory's finances and gradually reduce its fiscal deficit.

Reiterating the Centre's long-term commitment, Shah said the government would extend full support to Jammu and Kashmir in achieving the national goal of Viksit Bharat by 2047.

The Home Minister is on a two-day visit to Jammu and Kashmir. On Friday, he toured forward Border Security Force posts along the International Border in Kathua district and later chaired a high-level security review meeting with Army Chief General Upendra Dwivedi and senior officials, focusing on strengthening counter-terror operations.

During the visit, Shah also met families of police personnel martyred in anti-terror operations and handed over appointment letters to their next of kin. He later held meetings with BJP legislators and party office-bearers, reiterating the party's commitment to grassroots outreach and inclusive development in the Union Territory.

power, industry, tourism, and digital connectivity, particularly the expansion of 4G services and optical fibre networks.

The meeting was attended by Lieutenant Governor Manoj Sinha, Chief Minister Omar Abdullah, Union Home Secretary, and senior officials from the Central Government and the Jammu and Kashmir administration.

Shah said sustained and focused efforts are being made to transform Jammu and Kashmir into a hub of growth, employment, and inclusive development. He stressed that accelerated infrastructure development, improved connectivity, and enhanced public service delivery remain key priorities of the Centre.

Highlighting recent progress, the Home Minister said major investments in roads, power projects, and digital infrastructure are strengthening the region's economic foundation and improving the quality of life of people. He directed officials to ensure timely completion of projects and remove bottlenecks through effective coordination and close monitoring.

The Home Minister also emphasised the need for result-oriented governance and regular reviews to ensure that development reaches the grassroots, particularly in remote and border areas, and translates into tangible benefits for the people of Jammu and Kashmir.

No New Administrative.....

The Chief Minister informed the House that the government's focus remains on making the existing administrative units fully functional. He noted that several MLAs had personally conveyed their concerns over the non-operational status of a number of units created in the past.

"It is impractical to demand new administrative units when several of the already sanctioned ones are yet to become operational," he remarked, adding that the government would consider the creation of new units only after ensuring the complete functionality of the existing ones.

Earlier, replying on behalf of the Chief Minister, who also holds the Revenue portfolio, Minister for Jal Shakti Javed Ahmed Rana said that public services in Eidgah and Srinagar North tehsils were being delivered efficiently and within the prescribed timelines under the Public Services Guarantee Act (PSGA).

He told the House that the existing infrastructure and manpower were being optimally utilised to ensure smooth and timely service delivery. Responding to a specific question on whether the government intended to consider the long-pending public demand for a new tehsil by bifurcating areas of Eidgah and North tehsils, the Minister said that no such proposal was currently under consideration in the department.

Legislators Abdul Majeed Larmi and Tanvir Ali Sadiq also raised supplementary questions during the discussion.

India to Stop.....

technical work has already been completed to ensure Rajasthan receives its due share of surplus water, with the revised DPR currently under examination.

Patil said Haryana and Rajasthan have agreed to cooperate in preparing the DPRs for a massive pipeline scheme, estimated to cost between 77,000 crore and 1 lakh crore. "Our objective is to ensure adequate water for both agriculture and drinking needs, irrespective of which level of government invests in the project," he said.

Highlighting a significant policy shift, the minister said that for the first time, the Centre has offered up to 50 per cent financial assistance under the Jal Jeevan Mission to support states in delivering household tap water connections.

He criticised previous governments for failing to fully utilise India's water rights under the Indus and Yamuna river systems, particularly to address Rajasthan's chronic water scarcity. "Rajasthan suffers the most acute water shortage. These projects will bring transformative change," Patil said, adding that progress has also been made in supplying Yamuna water to three districts in Rajasthan's Shekhawati region, with Haryana's consent.

On the broader economic front, Patil said India's economy has witnessed steady growth over the past 12 years, supported by tax reforms that have propelled the country to become the world's third-largest economy.

The announcement comes against the backdrop of heightened tensions following India's unprecedented suspension of the Indus Waters Treaty (IWT) on April 23, 2025, in response to a deadly terror attack in Pahalgam, Jammu and Kashmir, that claimed 26 lives, mostly tourists.

Signed in 1960, the IWT governs the sharing of waters from the six rivers of the Indus system: Indus, Jhelum, Chenab, Ravi, Beas and Sutlej. Under the treaty, the three western rivers Indus, Jhelum and Chenab were allocated to Pakistan, while India retained rights over the eastern rivers Ravi, Beas and Sutlej.

The western rivers, which flow through Jammu and Kashmir before entering Pakistan, have long held strategic importance. The latest move signals a decisive shift in India's approach to water resource management and regional geopolitics.

agency—Kashmir News Observer (KNO), Srinagar recorded a minimum of 3.0 degrees Celsius on Friday night, up from minus 2.5 degrees Celsius on Thursday, marking an increase of 5.5 degrees.

In Pahalgam, a key tourist destination, the minimum temperature climbed by seven degrees, from minus 7.5 degrees Celsius to minus 0.5 degrees Celsius.

Gulmarg in north Kashmir's Baramulla district remained the coldest place in the valley, registering a low of minus 6.5 degrees Celsius.

Other areas recorded minimum temperatures with Qazigund at 0.6 degrees Celsius, Kokernag at minus 0.4 degrees Celsius, and Kupwara at 1.4 degrees Celsius.

Officials said fresh snowfall was recorded in the higher reaches of Gulmarg and Sonamarg in Ganderbal district, along with adjoining areas, overnight.

A light drizzle occurred in the plains of the valley during early hours of Saturday, contributing to a fall in daytime temperatures. Dense cloud cover was observed over most parts of the valley.

Weather officials said the valley is expected to remain generally dry till the evening of February 9, with light snow possible over some higher reaches by night.

Light rain or snow is likely at many places on February 10, followed by light snow at a few higher reaches on February 11. The period from February 12 to 13 is expected to remain mostly dry, with no major rain or snowfall forecast until February 16.

Tourism authorities in Gulmarg and Pahalgam have maintained that winter sports activities are ongoing as usual, though they have advised visitors to take precautions in higher altitude areas where fresh snow has accumulated.

Officials said the current weather pattern, combining rising night temperatures with daytime snow and cloud cover, is typical for the 'Chillai Khurd' period and reflects seasonal variability across the valley—(KNO) suffered for years due to the menace of Maoism," the President said.

Noting that Naxalism caused the maximum damage to youth, tribals and Dalits, Ms. Murmu said that people associated with Maoist activities are now shunning violence, leading to the return of peace in the region.

"Government of India's decisive action against Maoists resulted in bringing an end to the atmosphere of fear and distrust", she added.

The President said she had been informed that a large number of Naxalites have surrendered and that the government is ensuring those who return to the mainstream are able to lead a normal and dignified life.

"With the government's efforts and the cooperation of the people, a new dawn of development is rising in Bastar," Ms. Murmu said.

She urged people to have faith in the system and move forward with hard work and dedication, describing democracy as a source of strength.

"I appeal to those who have renounced violence and joined the mainstream to have faith in the Constitution and democracy, and not be misled by those who seek to divert them," the President added.

Referring to her own journey to the top Constitutional post, Ms. Murmu said it reflected the strength of Indian democracy that a daughter from a small village in Odisha was today addressing you as President.

"You have even greater courage and strength. The government is dedicated to you," she said.

The President said the government is committed to the welfare of the poor, deprived and backward sections of society, stressing that their upliftment remains a top priority.

Rejecting the notion that Chhattisgarh is a backward State, President Murmu highlighted the State's grandeur and cultural heritage.

She described the culture of the tribal communities as invaluable, ancient yet enduring, saying those who wish to understand inclusivity and equality should experience Bastar Pandum.

Chhattisgarh Governor Ramen Deka, Chief Minister Vishnu Deo Sai and others were present. (AGENCIES)

Crop Insurance.....

However, it stressed the need to extend insurance coverage to other fruit crops such as cherry, plum, peach, pear and babagosa, which are equally vulnerable to climatic disasters.

The Union expressed deep disappointment over the absence of a special compensation package for the widespread damage caused by untimely rains, hailstorms, snowfall and floods in recent years, particularly the devastating deluge of 2025. It estimated the cumulative losses at nearly 2,000 crore, warning that thousands of orchardists are facing severe financial distress.

"Fruit growers across the Valley have suffered massive losses, yet the Budget has not allocated any relief or compensation for these weather-related damages. Many orchardists are on the verge of financial collapse," the statement said.

Reiterating a series of long-pending demands, the Union sought the reintroduction of the Market Intervention Scheme (MIS) to stabilise fruit prices, establishment of a separate horticulture estate, subsidies on packaging material, fertilisers and pesticides, promotion of organic farming, and setting up of testing laboratories across J&K. It also demanded enhanced funding for irrigation and mechanisation tools, relief for small growers under Kisan Credit Card (KCC) loans, and the development of major fruit mandis at Parimpura, Sopore, Shopian, Pulwama and Anantnag.

The Union also raised concern over the reduction in apple import duties under free trade agreements, particularly the cut from 50 per cent to 25 per cent on New Zealand apples, warning that a surge in foreign imports has already impacted local prices and threatened growers' livelihoods.

"This policy has adversely affected local apple prices and poses a serious risk to the horticulture sector in J&K as well as other hill states. Import duties on American and European apples should be raised beyond 100 per cent to protect domestic growers," it said.

Urging the government to hold immediate consultations with growers' representatives, the Union called for a comprehensive revival and relief package, including compensation for crop losses, subsidies on plant protection chemicals and restructuring of farm loans.

Despite the concerns, the KVFGCU expressed confidence in the present leadership and hoped that the remaining demands would be addressed in the larger interest of sustaining Kashmir's horticulture economy. (KNO)

Sub Parvez Ahmed joined the Indian Army in March 1991 and retired in March 2019 after 28 years of service. Over the course of his career, he served extensively in operational and instructional roles, including tenures as an instructor at training establishments. He also excelled in various specialised courses and awarded for his service.

Following his retirement, Sub Parvez Ahmed remained actively engaged with the local community. During Operation Sindo, he played a significant role in supporting deployed troops by assisting with logistics and local coordination, drawing on his familiarity with the area and long association with the unit. His efforts, carried out at personal risk during periods of heightened tension, earned him recognition from the Army.

In recognition of his continued contribution to society and his support during Operation Sindo, the Army Chief felicitated him with the Veteran Achiever Award during the visit. Family members, ex-servicemen and local residents were present on the occasion.

Several other veterans and civilians including women and children from the region also met the Army Chief during the visit. The exchanges were informal, reflecting the close bond between serving personnel, former soldiers and civilians in the border districts of Jammu and Kashmir.

For residents of the region, where military service is closely intertwined with everyday life, the visit highlighted the continuing connection between the Indian Army, its veterans and the communities they come from.

To address encroachments and illegal occupation of migrant properties, an online grievance portal has been developed. Using this mechanism, 3,408 kanals and 16 marlas of encroached migrant land have been retrieved.

By December 2025, the government said, more than 1.64 lakh domicile certificates and 36,541 migrant certificates had been issued to displaced persons and migrants.

The government also plans to set up State Emergency Operations Centre (EOC) in Jammu district, along with EOCs in all 20 districts of the Union Territory, to further strengthen disaster preparedness and response mechanisms.

Make the existing administrative units fully functional

Jammu & Kashmir chief minister Omar Abdullah on Saturday said that the union territory government has no plans of creating new administrative units, as priority is to operationalise previously established ones. Omar made this intervention during the question hour in the assembly. Omar said that the focus of the government is to make the already created administrative units in Jammu and Kashmir fully functional.

Omar said that most of the MLAs had met him and expressed concern over the non-functioning of several units established in the past. The CM is right in saying that many administrative units in the union territory are not functioning and the same has to be streamlined. There was a time when many politicians raised fingers over the creation of these administrative units and said that these units would lead to chaos and confusion among the masses.

Politics apart, it is an established fact that most of the newly created administrative units have not been able to serve the purpose in the manner they ought to. Infrastructure continues to be the main hurdle in the proper functioning of these administrative units with many of the tehsils and niabats having no buildings of their own. These administrative units and sub-units continue to operate in rented buildings and going by the slackness it might take a lot more time in completing the construction of the tehsil and niabat buildings.

Omar said the government will consider creation of new administrative units only after ensuring full functionality of the existing ones. It is important that the government takes up the creation as well as development of infrastructure of the already announced administrative units more seriously. The work on these development projects has already missed many deadlines and there is no accountability whatsoever. It is imperative to inculcate the element of accountability so that there is no more delay in completion of such projects.

People are suffering since they have to sit out and brave the vagaries of weather as and when they visit an administrative unit in connection with some work. Since the space is cramped in the rented set up people have to remain outside so as to get their work done from the concerned officer or official at the administrative unit. This acts as a dampener to the aspect of governance more so at a time when the government claims that governance has reached the doorsteps of the common masses.

How Budget -2026 plans to shape J&K's tomorrow

■ MOHAMMAD HANIEF

The Union Budget 2026-27 and the Jammu and Kashmir Budget 2026-27 together present a comprehensive picture of India's economic direction and its practical impact on ordinary citizens, particularly in a region that has long faced social, political, and economic challenges. While the national budget outlines the country's broader development agenda, the budget presented by Chief Minister Omar Abdullah translates these priorities into concrete policies that directly influence the daily lives of people in Jammu and Kashmir. For the common resident, these financial plans are not merely policy documents but roadmaps that shape access to education, healthcare, employment, transportation, and social security.

At the national level, the Union Budget continues to emphasize growth through infrastructure development. Massive investments in highways, railways, tunnels, airports, and digital connectivity have a direct bearing on Jammu and Kashmir, where difficult terrain and harsh weather have historically limited mobility and trade. Improved road and rail networks mean faster travel between districts, reduced transportation costs for farmers and traders, and better access to markets outside the region. For students, patients, and small entrepreneurs, enhanced connectivity reduces isolation and opens new opportunities.

The expansion of digital infrastructure under the Union Budget also carries major benefits for residents of Jammu and Kashmir. Improved internet connectivity and digital services make it easier for people to access government schemes, banking facilities, telemedicine, and online education. In remote villages where physical access to offices and institutions is limited, digital platforms increasingly serve as gateways to essential services. The emphasis on data centres, cloud services, and e-governance strengthens this transformation and promotes transparency in public administration.

Tax reforms and simplification under the national budget indirectly benefit common citizens by making compliance easier for small traders, professionals, and self-employed individuals. Reduced procedural hurdles and faster dispute resolution help small businesses operate with greater confidence. For young entrepreneurs and start-ups in Jammu and Kashmir, a more predictable tax environment encourages investment and innovation, especially in sectors such as tourism, handicrafts, agriculture processing, and information technology.

Employment generation remains a key outcome of national capital spending. Large infrastructure projects create jobs for engineers, technicians, construction workers, drivers, and service providers. Many of these opportunities are available locally, reducing the need for migration in search of work. Skill development programs supported by the Centre further enable young people to acquire technical and vocational expertise, improving their chances of securing stable employment.

While the Union Budget provides the framework, the Jammu and Kashmir Budget focuses directly on everyday concerns of households. One of its most important features is the strong emphasis on social welfare. Measures such as subsidized cooking gas, free or affordable education, financial assistance for orphans, and travel concessions for persons with disabilities reduce the financial burden on vulnerable families. For many households struggling with rising living costs, these provisions offer tangible relief and improve basic living standards.

Education emerges as a central pillar of the regional budget. Expanded scholarships, fee waivers, and institutional upgrades make higher education more accessible to students from low-income backgrounds. Support for research and postgraduate studies encourages academic excellence and helps retain local talent. For parents, reduced education expenses ease financial stress, while for students, improved facilities and opportunities enhance future prospects.

Healthcare investments under the Jammu and Kashmir Budget address one of the most pressing concerns of ordinary citizens. The expansion of hospitals, emergency response systems, and ambulance services improves access to timely medical care, particularly in border and remote areas. For families that previously had to travel long distances for treatment, strengthened local facilities mean lower expenses, faster diagnosis, and better health outcomes. The integration of digital health services also allows patients to consult specialists without leaving their districts.

Public transport and mobility are another area where common citizens benefit directly. Improved road infrastructure, upgraded bus services, and travel concessions make commuting easier and more affordable. Better connectivity between rural and urban centres enables workers, students, and traders to move more freely, enhancing economic participation and social interaction. In hilly and snowbound regions, reliable transport is often the difference between access and isolation.

Farmers and horticulturists, who form the backbone of Jammu and Kashmir's rural economy, receive targeted support through irrigation projects, renewable energy solutions, crop insurance, and market infrastructure. Improved water management and solar-powered equipment reduce dependence on costly inputs. Strengthened storage and processing facilities help minimize losses and increase earnings. For apple growers, saffron cultivators, and livestock farmers, these measures translate into more stable incomes and greater resilience against climatic and market shocks.

The budget's focus on tourism and handicrafts has important implications for livelihoods. Investments in infrastructure, hospitality, and promotion are expected to revive tourist inflows, benefiting hotel workers, guides, transport operators, shopkeepers, and artisans. Support for traditional crafts preserves cultural heritage while creating income opportunities for thousands of families. As tourism grows, related sectors such as food services, transport, and retail also experience expansion, generating a multiplier effect across the local economy.

Urban development and housing initiatives improve living conditions in towns and cities. Upgraded water supply systems, waste management facilities, and affordable housing schemes enhance public health and environmental sustainability. For urban residents, these improvements mean cleaner surroundings, better services, and increased property value. Rural development programs similarly focus on sanitation, drinking water, and renewable energy, improving quality of life in villages.

Women and marginalized groups receive special attention through targeted welfare and employment programs. Skill training, self-help groups, and micro-credit schemes enable women to participate more actively in the economy. Social security measures for widows, elderly citizens, and persons with disabilities strengthen the social safety net. These interventions promote financial independence and social inclusion.

Despite these positive measures, the Jammu and Kashmir Budget operates within financial constraints. A large share of resources is devoted to salaries, pensions, and debt servicing, limiting flexibility. Continued dependence on central assistance remains a structural challenge. However, effective coordination with national programs helps bridge resource gaps and ensures continuity of development initiatives.

The interaction between the Union Budget and the regional budget creates a layered system of support for citizens. National investments in infrastructure, digitalization, and energy strengthen the foundation upon which local welfare and development programs are built. Regional policies then adapt these resources to address specific needs arising from geography, security concerns, and socio-economic conditions.

For the common person in Jammu and Kashmir, Budget 2026 represents more than figures and allocations. It influences whether a child can attend college without financial hardship, whether a patient can access emergency care quickly, whether a farmer receives fair returns, and whether a young graduate finds meaningful employment close to home. It determines the quality of roads, the reliability of electricity, the affordability of healthcare, and the accessibility of government services.

As these policies move from paper to practice, their real impact will depend on transparent governance, efficient implementation, and public oversight. When funds are used effectively and programs reach intended beneficiaries, budgets become instruments of empowerment rather than mere accounting exercises. In this sense, Budget 2026 offers Jammu and Kashmir an opportunity to strengthen social stability, expand economic participation, and build confidence in public institutions.

In an era of rapid change and continuing uncertainty, the combined vision of the Union and regional budgets reflects a commitment to inclusive growth and shared prosperity. By aligning national ambition with local needs, these financial plans aim to ensure that development reaches every household, enabling the people of Jammu and Kashmir to participate fully in India's broader journey toward progress and stability.

The Queen Of Evergreen Songs— Remembering Lata Mangeshkar

■ MOOL RAJ

Lata Mangeshkar's death anniversary on February 6, 2026, marks her 4th death anniversary. She passed away on February 6, 2022, at the age of 92 due to multiple organ dysfunction syndrome. Iconic Indian singer Lata Mangeshkar, the nightingale of India, who has charmed the people of India and across the world with her melodious voice will always keep ruling the hearts of people for all times to come. Lata's death marks the end of an era in music. She ruled the world of music for decades and the magic of her voice will live forever. She had sung around 50,000 songs as a playback singer in films in 14 different Indian languages. Her singing journey has become an iconic model success story for many struggling and established singers in India. Lata was named 'Hema' at her birth. Her parents later renamed her Lata after a female character, Latika, in one of her father's plays, 'Bhaaw Bandhan'.

Famously known as 'Lata Didi' in the Bollywood music fraternity, Mangeshkar was born in a Marathi-speaking family in Indore to classical singer and theatre actor Pandit Deenanath Mangeshkar and his wife Shevanti, a homemaker.

Perhaps, she must have been the most recorded voice in the history of this century. She got her first major break with the song Dil Mera Toda in the movie Majboor (1948) but her first major hit was Aayega Aanewala, sung for Madhubala in the movie Mahal (1949). She won a Filmfare award as the best female playback singer for the song Aaja Re Pardesi for the movie Madhumati (1958).

Lata took her first music lessons from her father at the age of 5 and also studied with Aman Ali Khan Sahib and later Amanat Khan. Lata Mangeshkar has sang in more than 500 films and for many Lata is the most admired singer. It was after India's losses in the India-China war in 1962 that a young Lata had sung the song, "Ai Mere Watan Ke Logon, Zara Aankh Me Bhar Lo Pan" the song, written by Kavi Pradeep, moved many heartening people into tears and still remains to be one of the most patriotic song sung by her. When she sang the song- Aye Mere Watan Ke Logo on 27 January 1963, it brought tears to the then Prime Minister of India- Jawaharlal Nehru.

Lata's stylistic innovation offered a solution to the problem of women's presence in the cinematic public sphere. She was the diva of Indian playback who symbolizes honour and success.

"Lag jaa gale", "Aapkinazron ne samjha" and "Mera saaya saath hogा" are but a few chosen gems among hundreds of priceless ones that Madan Mohan created for Lata. "Pyaarhua iqraar hua", "Yehraat bheegi bheegi", "Ab raat guzarne waali hai", "Main kya karoon Ram" and "Raja ki aayegi baarat" are but a few Lata hits Shankar Jaikishan created for Lata in Kapoor's films. Ram laxman scored their greatest hit ever with the Lata-voiced "Didi tera dewar deewana" in "Hum Aapke Hain Koun".

With S.D. Burman, Lata got to prove her prowess at playing with authentic earthy notes. If Lata managed to survive, it was owing to her sheer power of perfection as a singer, and unique qualities. She has lent her voice to thousands of songs in Hindi, regional and foreign languages. She was awarded the Bharat Ratna, the highest civilian honour in 2001. France conferred her with its highest civilian award (Officer of the Legion of Honour) in 2007. She said that "From my experience and understanding, I believe money follows name and fame, while recognition calls for a huge amount of sacrifice. To get something, you have to lose something. That's the rule of life." Earlier there was no category for best playback singer in the Filmfare awards and after her protest, it was included in 1958. She got her 1st Filmfare Award for Best Playback Singer for the song- Aaja Re Pardesi from the movie Madhumati in 1958. From 1958 to 1966, she monopolized Filmfare awards for Best Female Playback Singer and it was stopped in 1969 only when she gave up the awards in an unusual gesture for promoting fresh talents.

She had a voice suited to more sooth-ing, mature, melodramatic and patriotic songs. She had a set of ideals when it comes to good music, and for her, more than popularity, it's about the songs she gets to croon. Lata was an ideal for everyone- be it singer or composer and her identity is the reason for her respect in the music industry and in the hearts of every Indian today. She has inspired and motivated every person in the world by her devotion & dedication.

It is reported that Lata had sung hundreds of songs with Mohammed Rafi, but there was a time when she stopped talking to Rafi. The two refused to sing together. However, after four years, with the effort of actress Nargis, both of them sang the song Dil Pukare in a program. In one her interview she that her true godfather was Ghulam Haider who trusted her talent.

Her songs have been a part of all of us and her voice engraved in every Indian and we will all cherish her forever.

Home Gym and Its Importance

■ SAHIL MANZOOR BHATTI

Routine exercise reflects discipline and keeps us fit and healthy. Therefore, regular exercise is vital for good health. Today's era is full of anxiety and stress, and people often complain of fatty liver, high cholesterol, obesity, and a number of other dreadful health-related issues. To get rid of these problems, we need proper discipline in our lives. We must follow a balanced diet plan, exercise regularly, and go for routine medical check-ups.

Importance of a Home Gym

Healthy People, Healthy Nation

In today's era, people face severe health issues such as obesity, gastrointestinal tract problems, fatty liver, heart-related diseases, orthopedic issues, and several other health risks.

Our body performs immense functions, and every function is under the control of nature, such as digestion, blood circulation, and excretion of waste material. When we keenly observe these bodily functions, it clearly seems that someone is in control. We, as human beings, cannot create such miracles. Alhamdulillah! Every creature believes that there is divine power behind all these phenomena, and that power governs even invisible particles like cells and atoms.

Cell

The cell is the fundamental, structural, and functional unit of life. Almost every living organism is made up of cells, whether multicellular or unicellular. There are about 25 trillion living cells in an adult human body. Different organelles are present in a cell, such as: like Endoplasmic Reticulum (ER): A network of membranes involved in the synthesis of proteins and lipids. Golgi Apparatus (Golgi Complex): Modifies, sorts, and packages proteins and lipids for secretion or delivery to other organelles. Ribosomes: Sites of protein synthesis. Lysosomes: Sac-like structures containing enzymes that digest waste materials and cellular debris. Vacuoles: Membrane-bound sacs that store water, nutrients, and waste products. Peroxisomes: Break down fatty acids and detoxify harmful substances. Cytoskeleton: A network of protein filaments that provides structural support and helps in cell movement. Centrioles: Involved in cell division in animal cells. Chloroplasts (in plant cells): Sites of photosynthesis that convert light energy into chemical energy.

Atoms

Every non-living thing is made up of atoms. They are so minute that we cannot see them with the naked eye. The structure of an atom consists of shells and a central nucleus. This makes us realize that Almighty Allah is the ultimate super-power. We humans only study and initiate research on things that already exist in the universe. So we should always say Alhamdulillah and hope for the best. We are blessed with a great mind that can bring revolution, and that mind is also bestowed upon us by our Creator.

It is very unfortunate that even in the age of cutting-edge technology, we still lack proper treatment for certain dreadful diseases like cancer, AIDS (Acquired Immunodeficiency Syndrome), and several chromosomal disorders.

Through this article, I have tried to understand the mercies of the Almighty upon us and reflect on why we are going astray. Why do we claim superiority by saying, "This country is powerful, that country is helpless"? We must always remember that every creature is important and every small part of the universe has value.

Today, I am going to share my opinion on how regular exercise is important for our health and how it keeps us happy, fit, and energetic.

First of all, we must understand what is most important in life health, money, buildings, fame, etc. Everyone prioritizes health first and then moves towards other needs. However, in today's era, we motivate people to achieve success and milestones but often forget to motivate them to prioritize their health first.

Some people are fortunate because their profession itself involves physical activity, such as workers and laborers. Unfortunately, they earn very little an income that often cannot support their basic livelihood. Laborers deserve immense appreciation and beneficial schemes, such as a minimum monthly remuneration of ₹10,000, so they do not feel insecure.

Sportsmen are also fortunate because regular physical activity keeps them fit and healthy. Through sports, they gain fame, recognition, and financial stability.

Many people complain that they do not have time for regular exercise. For them, I suggest the home gym.

What Is a Home Gym?

A home gym means setting aside a separate room, if available, or arranging some basic equipment so that all body parts can be exercised daily. If you have a separate room, you can gradually add equipment as your financial condition improves. You may also request your friends and relatives to gift fitness equipment instead of extravagant presents on special occasions.

Benefits of Bodybuilding

I was in the 8th class when I started gym exercises. In Kashmir, it is commonly known as the iron game. During this journey, I met great and kind people teachers, business personalities, sports persons, and government employees who supported and motivated me. After facing ups and downs, I experienced immense joy and positivity. Many unhealthy feelings like fatigue disappeared. I noticed a glow on my face and felt fresh and energetic throughout the day.

Based on my experience, I suggest my beloved friends join a gym to enhance their personality, stay away from drugs, develop interest in sports, and become gentle and kind individuals.

Before setting up a home gym, consult a good trainer who can guide you on proper exercises, essential equipment, and full-body workouts. Involve your siblings and parents as well, and you will surely enjoy a healthier life.

Minigym centers can also be established at the school level to create awareness among students and help them understand the importance of physical fitness. At the college level, gyms often exist but remain locked to protect the equipment. Instead, these facilities should be opened for interested students so they can engage in healthy activities and relieve stress and anxiety.

In villages, many youngsters are falling into harmful habits such as smoking and drug use. It is our collective responsibility to eradicate these evils and introduce healthy activities in society.

Gym centers can keep youth away from anxiety and depression and help them maintain good physical and mental health. Exercise truly keeps us happy, healthy, and rejuvenated.

Over 100 vintage beauties line up for pre-judging prior to 59th The Statesman VCCR

■ AGRAJ PRATAP SINGH

NEW DELHI, FEB 7 : With the rumble of their powerful engines, and their shining chrome adding glitter to a pleasant Saturday, the Maharani's of the auto-world that ruled the roads in the past, lined up at the Modern School in the heart of the city for the final day of the pre-judging event on the eve of The Statesman Vintage and Classic Car Rally's 59th edition.

The shining sun and the pleasant weather added to the enthusiasm of the participants and also the visitors who had come to witness the cars, while, around a hundred vintage and classic cars of different types arrived for the pre-judging that included American classics like the Ford Mustang, Lincoln, luxury ride of the yesteryears Packard, and others like the Oldsmobile.

Exclusive wheels also included the Bentleys, Rolls Royce Boat Tail, which used to be the choice of the royals back in the day.

Popular cars like the Chevrolet Impala, the old Land Rovers, Willys Jeeps and several roadsters, also arrived, leaving the visitors awestruck, while many took pictures with the beauties of the yesteryears.

Sharing his thoughts about the event, a participant said that the annual event, The Statesman Vintage and Classic Car Rally is something that the car collectors and the enthusiasts eagerly wait for, and start preparations months ahead of the rally.

Judges in the pre-judging event properly inspected all the components, condition of the engines, the restoration quality of the cars, and the authenticity of the works done.

Some of the finest and rare set of wheels that caught eyeballs on Saturday included the several Mercedes models that were the choice of the affluent people in the '70s and the 1980s.

Volkswagen Beetle, Studebaker, Fiat and some other classics added more flavor to the event. The judges had to speed up the process of inspection with cars waiting in queue, with participants all geared up for the rally on Sunday.

Interestingly, the judges on the occasion are those who have had a long association with the rally, as well as automobile experts, who specialise in the vintage and classic car domain. They checked minute bits about the cars, with attention to every detail, with all the knowledge, which in itself is a unique thing.

Participating vehicles are judged on various parameters, with points for the condition of their engines, body, restoration, original condition, and other aspects like instrumentation, wheels, tyres and the chassis. Every point counts, as it eventually adds up in the race to winning the prizes under different categories.

As per the format defined and structured by the judges, these parameters carry points, with more stress on the actual running condition of the vehicle, and its mechanical status.

One of the experienced judges, Gyan Sharma said that several rare and distinctive cars will be taking part in the rally this year. He appreciated the hard work and efforts put in by the owners, participants for maintaining the cars.

According to an expert, these cars are not just vehicles, but a part of automobile heritage. They are living examples of how people use to drive around in the past, when the technology was not that advanced and so many factors used to come into play regarding automobile maintenance, before things turned hi-tech.

Participants shared light moments with each other, recounting experiences while their cars were being inspected, a day ahead of the rally when they would drive together on the course set for the event. UNI

India, US Trade Pact game changer for Textile industry: Textile Ministry

■ UNITED NEWS OF INDIA

NEW DELHI, FEB 7 : The Textiles Ministry on Saturday described the landmark trade agreement between India and the United States as a major catalyst enhancing textile trade relations between the two countries and hoped that it could be a major economic game changer for the sector.

For textiles exports, it opens up a 118 billion USD US global market of imports of textiles, apparels and made-ups. With the US being India's largest export destination of around 10.5 billion USD exports, comprising around 70 per cent apparel and 15 per cent made-ups, this is a major opportunity.

It is expected to play a pivotal role in India achieving its intended target of 100 billion USD exports in 2030. The deal is expected to provide the requisite momentum, with the US to contribute to more than 1/5th of this target.

The 18 per cent reciprocal tariffs on all the textile products, including apparel and made-ups, will not only remove the disadvantage that Indian exporters had, but would place them in a better position than most competitors like Bangladesh (20 per cent), China (30 per cent), Pakistan (19 per cent) and Vietnam (20 per cent) who have higher reciprocal tariffs.

This would alter the market dynamics as large buyers would surely re-examine their sourcing in the light of this agreement.

The agreement would also enable the industry to be cost-competitive and diversify its risks by sourcing intermediates for the textiles sector from the US. This would facilitate the manufacturing of value-added textiles in the country and diversify our production and exports.

The deal would generate additional employment and encourage investments by US entities, the Ministry said. UNI

Tigers straying beyond core areas, need stronger rescue response: Bhupender Yadav

■ BY MUSKAN BHATIA

NEW DELHI, FEB 7 : Environment Minister Bhupender Yadav on Saturday stressed the need for a stronger response system to protect the country's wildlife, pointing out that tigers often move beyond core areas.

Highlighting the importance of timely and professional intervention in cases involving injured animals, human-wildlife conflict, and orphaned tiger cubs, he called for a clear system for rescue, rehabilitation, and transit treatment centres around tiger reserves. Yadav's suggestions came during the inaugural address of a 2-day Conference of Chief Wildlife Wardens of Tiger Range States and Field Directors of Tiger Reserves held in Alwar, Rajasthan.

From the beginning of this year until February 2, a total of 21 tiger deaths were recorded, of which seven occurred outside reserve areas, according to data from the National Tiger Conservation Authority (NTCA).

Long-term mortality data suggest a gradual shift in where tiger deaths are occurring. Between 2012 and 2025, a total of 1,581 tiger deaths were recorded nationwide. Of these, about 52.5 per cent occurred inside tiger reserves, while 47.5 per cent were reported outside reserve boundaries.

However, year-wise analysis over the past five years indicates a changing pattern, with more than half of all tiger deaths taking place outside reserves in several recent years. The proportion of deaths outside reserves peaked at around 55 per cent in 2023, according to government data.

Yadav also called for the formation of four working groups to review region-specific challenges, including changes in tiger population, and assess the implementation of centrally-sponsored schemes across the Tiger Reserves of the country.

The Minister also asked participants to discuss ways to enhance coordination between NTCA and institutions such as the Wildlife Institute of India, Botanical Survey of India, Zoological Survey of India, and Indian Council for Forestry Research and Education, to incorporate research inputs from these apex organisations and derive practical benefits in tiger conservation. Delhi govt enhances financial powers of Municipal Commissioner; Can now approve projects up to Rs.50 cr

■ UNITED NEWS OF INDIA

NEW DELHI, FEB 7 : The Delhi Government has significantly enhanced the financial powers of the Municipal Commissioner, with the official now authorised to approve projects and schemes costing up to Rs 50 crore at their own level. Officials stated that this measure is expected to substantially expedite the decision-making process and ensure the timely completion of works related to essential civic amenities, enabling faster delivery of benefits to the public. At present, the Municipal Commissioner is empowered to approve projects only up to Rs. 5 crore. Projects exceeding this amount require approval from the Standing Committee of the Corporation, followed by final clearance from the House of the Corporation. This multi-tiered approval mechanism has often led to avoidable delays in the execution of development works.

By increasing the Commissioner's financial powers to Rs.50 crore, the implementation process of schemes is expected to become simpler, faster, and more effective.

The enhanced delegation of powers will facilitate the timely execution of works related to roads, drains, sanitation, community facilities, and other essential civic services.

It will also help accelerate long-pending projects, reduce procedural bottlenecks, and ensure that development initiatives reach citizens without unnecessary delay.

"This step is being viewed as an important administrative reform aimed at strengthening accountability and improving service delivery," an official said.

Delhi CM Rekha Gupta stated that empowering local bodies is a top priority of the government for the overall development of Delhi.

She emphasised that the decision has been taken with public interest at its core and will directly benefit the people of the capital. UNI

Indo-US trade deal a 'surrender,' Cong warns of blow to farmers, SMEs

■ UNITED NEWS OF INDIA

NEW DELHI, FEB 7 : The Congress on Saturday launched a sharp attack on the Centre over the India-US trade deal, describing it as an "economic surrender" signed under pressure and warning that it would seriously harm Indian farmers, small businesses and the middle class. At a presser, party spokesperson and chairman of AICC Media and Publicity Pawan Khera alleged the Modi government had compromised national interests and was hiding crucial details of the agreement from the public.

"This is not a deal; it is a surrender," Khera said. "Deals are negotiated across the table, not at gunpoint and through blackmail." He claimed the government was functioning "in the American time zone" and that recent announcements reflected coercion rather than hard negotiation. Khera alleged that the proposed trade arrangement would result in India dramatically increasing imports from the United States – from about $40-42 billion annually to nearly $500 billion over the next five years. "What will India import at such a massive scale?" he asked, warning that agricultural products would be the biggest concern and that such imports could "wreck the country's economy." The Congress spokesperson warned that India could become a dumping ground for American goods. He pointed out that over 40 percent of India's exports to the US were already duty-free even before the deal, including electronics, pharmaceuticals, petroleum products, tea, coffee and spices. "If tariffs on US agricultural and food products are slashed, it will break the backbone of Indian farmers," Khera said, adding that American farmers stood to gain while Indian agriculture would suffer. Criticising Commerce Minister Piyush Goyal's briefing on the agreement, Khera said the minister was "hiding more than he is revealing." He alleged that contradictory statements by the Commerce Minister, the Finance Minister and National Security Adviser Ajit Doval reflected confusion and a lack of accountability within the government. "The Commerce Minister passes the buck to the External Affairs Minister, the External Affairs Minister pushes it back, and in between Ajit Doval joins in to claim credit," Khera said.

"This visible lack of coordination on issues of such magnitude gives the Indian public little confidence." Khera alleged that the deal compromised India's self-respect and sovereignty, claiming the country was being portrayed internationally as a "thief" under monitoring arrangements, including scrutiny of India's oil purchases.

He said the US had threatened a 25 per cent penalty tariff if India was found buying oil from Russia. Questioning the government's call to celebrate the agreement, Khera said India was still paying significantly higher tariffs than before. "Earlier, India paid around 3 per cent tariffs. These went up to 50 per cent under punitive measures and have now come down to 18 per cent," he said. "That still means India is paying 15 per cent more than before." "It is like feeling happy that your friend is now slapping you once a day instead of twice and you think it is a great relief," he remarked.

The Congress leader also alleged that corporate interests were being prioritised over national interest, naming large industrial groups and asking whether their concerns were being protected at the cost of farmers, small and medium enterprises and the middle class.

Referring to Parliament, Khera claimed the leader of the Opposition was being "forcibly stopped" from raising the issue. He alleged that the Prime Minister was aware that Rahul Gandhi knew the circumstances under which the agreement was reached, which he described as pressure-driven and coercive.

Separately in a post on X, Congress general secretary Jairam Ramesh echoed similar concerns, particularly on the impact of the deal on agriculture. He said the Commerce Minister's defence of the agreement from the farmers' perspective was "too clever by half." UNI

Delhi CM lays foundation stone for Rs 400 cr development works in Matiala

■ UNITED NEWS OF INDIA

NEW DELHI, FEB 7 : Delhi Chief Minister Rekha Gupta on Saturday laid the foundation stone for development projects worth around Rs 400 crore in the Matiala Assembly constituency, including for roads, drains and drainage systems, and improvement of civic amenities.

Addressing the residents, Gupta said there would be no shortage of funds for development in rural areas, and reaffirmed her government's commitment to improving civic infrastructure and rural development.

She described the projects as more than construction activities, saying they represent public trust, better facilities and an improved quality of life for citizens.

Gupta said the Delhi Government has approved a budget of nearly Rs 400 crore for Matiala, in west Delhi, which will significantly speed up development works.

She stressed that the government's focus is on implementing projects on the ground rather than limiting them to paperwork.

Giving details, Gupta said the works include strengthening roads, drains and drainage systems, development of parks

Janakpuri biker death: Ashish Sood visits site with senior officers, warns of strict action

■ UNITED NEWS OF INDIA

NEW DELHI, FEB 7 : Delhi Urban Development Minister Ashish Sood on Saturday conducted a joint inspection at the Janakpuri accident site, where a biker lost his life after falling into a pit dug for Delhi Jal Board (DJB) work on Thursday night.

Sood visited the spot along with senior officials of PWD, Delhi Jal Board, Traffic Police, Revenue Department and MCD to review the causes of the incident and to ensure corrective and safety measures to prevent such accidents in future.

Calling the incident serious and disturbing, the Minister said it was not just an accident but a matter of administrative accountability. "The safety of Delhi's citizens is our top priority. Negligence at any level will not be tolerated," he said.

He said a detailed technical and administrative inquiry has been ordered. Strict action will be taken against any officer, agency or contractor found directly or indirectly responsible. A comprehensive safety audit of infrastructure in the Janakpuri area will also be conducted.

Sood said Chief Minister Rekha Gupta has made it clear that there will be zero compromise on public safety. Following her intervention, a zero-tolerance policy has been adopted, and officials found prima facie negligent have been suspended with immediate effect.

The minister said FIRs have been registered against the Delhi Jal Board and the concerned contractor through the Delhi Police. Legal proceedings are underway, and action for the contractor's arrest is also being initiated. He added that if any DJB official is found involved during the investigation, strict legal action will follow.

Describing the incident as deeply tragic, Sood said that while the loss of a young life cannot be reversed, the government will ensure that those responsible are not spared. He added that the Chief Minister is personally monitoring the situation.

Sood directed PWD, DJB and MCD officials to ensure strict safety measures at all construction sites in Janakpuri, including deployment of traffic marshals, proper lighting at night, reflectors near barricades, and written permission from local police before starting any work.

He also noted that the accident occurred on a busy road connecting Vikaspuri and nearby areas. To minimise inconvenience to the public, a joint inspection was carried out by Delhi Police, Traffic Police, MCD, DJB and PWD, and two-way traffic has been allowed on a single carriageway with immediate effect.

The Minister said DJB had already issued a safety and monitoring circular to all departments on January 24. He added that he will also formally write to MCD and other agencies to ensure accountability.

Sood clarified that the police investigation is independent, and based on its findings, named complaints will be filed and arrests made.

He reiterated that the government will take all necessary steps to prevent such negligence in future. UNI

Harshit Rana in doubt for T20 World Cup due to injury

■ UNITED NEWS OF INDIA

NEW DELHI: India allrounder Harshit Rana is under an injury cloud for the 2026 T20 World Cup. He "doesn't look good," according to captain Suryakumar Yadav, after the allrounder picked up a niggle during the warm-up game against South Africa in Navi Mumbai on February 4 when he bowled just the one over before walking off the field. Rana was seen with a strapped thigh later and Suryakumar said the final outcome on his availability would be known by the end of the day.

"He is not ruled out yet," Suryakumar said on the eve of India's first game of the T20 World Cup, against USA in Mumbai on Saturday. "He's being assessed by the physios. But I think, today we'll know what's going to happen. But it doesn't look good, it's not that great." While Rana is a player who can provide the batting depth that India prioritises in the format, his unavailability may not cause too much concern if all other players are fit, with Axar Patel expected to slot in at No. 8 and Jasprit Bumrah and Arshdeep Singh as the two fast bowlers.

"Don't worry, we have 11 players for tomorrow," Suryakumar said with a laugh. "But it's a big blow obviously because you make a squad of 15 players with a lot of combinations in mind. So we made it with the same thought. And if he is not available for us going forward, then we will set other combinations, however can we do it. But we have enough players, enough combinations, which we can make against all the teams for this tournament. But if we miss him, we will definitely miss him."

Rana had played three of the five T20s in the recent home series against New Zealand, which India won 4-1. India had not named any reserve players while announcing the squad of 15 as it's a home T20 World Cup. Suryakumar said that if Rana was ruled out, they would look for a replacement who preferably bats but that would not be a necessary factor. Apart from Bumrah and Arshdeep, India's other pace-bowling options in the squad are the allrounders Hardik Pandya and Shivam Dube. Rana, 24, had proved to be a handy option at No. 8 especially after his boundary-laden 52 off 43 at that position in the third ODI against New Zealand in a chase of 338.

"We will see which fast bowlers have done really well for the last one or two years," Suryakumar said. "And which bowler can bat as well. But there is no hard-and-fast rule that he has to bat. Because if you are expecting someone at No. 9 or 10 to come and hit a six, then what do you have the top eight for. But we will see whom to pick. We do have a few options but we will pick the best one."

Rabada: 'You cannot say that there's a favourite in this tournament'

■ UNITED NEWS OF INDIA

LONDON: Popular opinion ahead of this year's T20 World Cup is that co-hosts India are the favourites to win it, on the back of the immense form in the format, and that it is going to be a boon for batters, but Kagiso Rabada has never been one to walk down well-trodden paths. He chose the scenic route, not only in suggesting the field is far more open than India's nine series wins since their T20 World Cup triumph in 2024 makes it seem, but also in his assertion that bowlers may not have it that bad after all.

"You cannot say that there's a favourite in this tournament. I think it's up for grabs. Anyone can take it. We'll be putting our hand up for that for sure. I'm not too sure what's going on in the Indian camp. This tournament is right open," Rabada said to close off a media interaction in Ahmedabad, where South Africa will play their first three group matches.

He started it by answering a question about the surfaces in India; they have become so flat that the big question pre-tournament is whether a team will top 300, and all but poured cold water on the idea. "It's India, there are small grounds, the ball skids on and when dew comes, it makes it even worse. But in ICC events, from what I've seen, not all games will be high scoring. You'll get venues that will be high scoring from time to time, but I don't think all pitches would be that way," he said. "Especially in ICC events, you'll see that there will be something for the bowlers every now and then."

The last ICC event in India that Rabada was part of was the 2023 ODI World Cup, which was played at different times of year (October-November) and was also talked up as being a batting record-breaker. In total, there were three totals over 400 (by South Africa, New Zealand and India) and two of 399. While there was decent bounce and movement overall, bowlers suffered with the worst economy rate since in ODI World Cup history - 5.73 - and the third-worst average across World Cups.

The evidence suggests that the trend will continue, especially where South Africa will play the bulk of the tournament, Ahmedabad. The average first-innings score in eight T20Is at the venue is 189, and that jumps to 230 in the last four matches. Since 2024, it is India's second-highest scoring ground (of the venues being used at this World Cup), after Delhi. Incidentally, the rest of South Africa's tournament takes place at the Arun Jaitley Stadium. Expecting anything other than big runs seems futile but Rabada does have his reasons.

Sharandeep Singh and Shikhar Mohan, a journey of ice and fire

■ UNITED NEWS OF INDIA

JHARKHAND: Sharandeep Singh fondly recounts his conversation with opening partner Shikhar Mohan at the end of the third day's play during Jharkhand's Ranji Trophy game against Odisha. With a place in the quarter-finals on the line, Jharkhand were on a sticky wicket, having conceded a first-innings lead on a Jamshedpur surface that was spitting and bouncing. Odisha had ended day three on 202 for 8, having secured a lead of 221. They were bowled out for 226 on the fourth morning and a 246-run target wasn't going to be easy. But Sharandeep and Mohan - one in his second Ranji Trophy season and the other in his first - had their plans chalked out.

"Build the target in terms of twenty-run blocks, record a 60-70 run stand and then move ahead." The plan worked. Mohan tried to be the aggressor and Sharandeep the accumulator, and they set a solid foundation for the rest of the batting unit to chase down the target in the final session and secure Jharkhand a quarter-final spot for the first time since the 2022-23 season.

It's been the theme of this fire-and-ice opening partnership this season. Sharandeep and Mohan have aggregated 473 runs for the first wicket in 10 innings, the fifth-highest for any opening pair in this edition of the tournament. While this is their first time opening in senior cricket, they have done so several times at the Under-19 and Under-23 levels.

"We have been very good friends since our Under-16 days," Mohan says about Sharandeep. "We were even roommates earlier. He made his Ranji debut last year; I made my debut this year. He shared his experience about his Ranji season, how he went about things. That gave me a lot of clarity when I came into the senior team." The understanding is quite evident, even though their batting styles are chalk and cheese. Mohan, 20, is more flamboyant, and likes to take on the bowlers. Sharandeep, 23, has the old-school approach of tiring out bowlers. What keeps the two in good stead are the honest conversations about each other's game.

"We are very frank with each other," Mohan says. "I can literally tell him anything. I am younger than him, so he sometimes scolds me if I play a bad shot. We have good communication and that's showing in the opening partnerships that we are having."

Sharandeep agrees with Mohan's sentiments. "Honesty is extremely important in cricket. Sometimes you get carried away by the flow of your innings and don't even realise your mistake. Then the person at the other end tries to bring you back on track. If one of us makes a mistake, we try to correct it together. We spend the whole day together anyway, so the bonding between us is very strong."

Hailing from Ranchi, Mohan was fast-tracked into the senior Jharkhand setup after two sensational seasons at the Under-23 level. He finished the 2023-24 Col CK Nayudu Trophy with 623 runs in nine innings at 77.88 with three fifties and two centuries, and followed it up with 887 runs in 13 innings the next season at 73.92 - the third-highest in India. And he's continued that run of form for the senior team.
